What's Going On

What's going on? Not much. Not much at all. The number of COVID-19 cases continues to climb. Now with the colder weather coming on, that will limit the outdoor activities that we can plan and it really isn't safe to have large indoor gatherings. With that in mind, there will be no Christmas party this year. There will also be no meeting in January and no Zoup Off in February.

Our next event will probably be the Spring Dust Off which is typically held in May. If the weather in March or April is decent, we may evaluate some sort of outdoor gathering then.

Please join me in welcoming new member Hal Ringler! Hal lives in Cedar Springs and hopefully we'll get to meet him in person in the spring.

Have a Happy Thanksgiving and a Merry Christmas! It is very likely there will be no December newsletter.

Stay safe everyone.

Color Tour Recap

On October 17, ten of us met up at Fricano's to participate in the color tour. It was a cool, overcast day but that didn't dampen our spirits. Most of us drove our daily drivers as we wanted heat but Dan Konkle and Jamie Reinhart drove their Corvairs (although Jamie's 1960 coupe has a gas heater and it was a sauna in his car). Dave Dykwell had a very scenic route to Ludington planned. Somewhere along the way we picked up Reggie Stroebe who was driving his Corvair and then we lost him (sorry Reggie). Jamie also started having mechanical issues so he turned back to go home.

There were a lot of great colors! I think we hit the peak of the fall colors. We went through a few lakeshore towns on our way to Ludington. Once we hit Ludington, we had lunch on the outdoor patio at Ludington Bay Brewing Company. After lunch we were supposed to continue back east and loop around and end up in Newaygo but the weather was starting to turn a little nasty so we decided to end it in Ludington. Everyone went their separate way from there.

Thank you to Dave Dykwell for planning the tour! I'll put more photos on the website soon.
